MONDAY REPORT

Volume XII, Number 1 March 5, 1990

GOVERNOR TRIMS BUDGET

Preliminary indications are that funds for community colleges will be slim in the coming year. Tax revenues are below levels that were previously anticipated, and there appears to be no windfall to assist with the coming year's budget.

Governor Martinez has said that he will recommend a salary increase of only three percent for six months (translated, this is 1 1/2 percent over a year) for community college personnel. The Governor's budget provides an increase in the total operating budget of only four percent.

In comparing the budget request from the State Board of Community Colleges (see page two) with the Governor's budget for Florida's Community Colleges, the Governor's recommendation is $137,531,768 less than the requested amount.

The Florida House of Representatives Budget and the Senate Budget are not yet available for review. The final community college budget is generally a compromise version of House, Senate and Governor's budgets.

RESPIRATORY CARE GRANT

Palm Beach Community College was recently awarded a $110,280 Respiratory Care Consortium Sunshine State Skills Grant. The 1989-90 grant was approved by the State Board of Community Colleges.

The grant will be used to support the program for current students and training of currently employed respiratory care technicians to upgrade their skills for certification as respiratory therapists at PBCC North.

Seven local hospitals, known as the Palm Beach Respiratory Care Consortium, support the PBCC Respiratory Care program and work in a training partnership with the College. The Consortium consists of representatives from Jupiter Hospital, Palm Beach Gardens Hospital, St. Mary's Hospital, John F. Kennedy Hospital, Boca Raton Community Hospital, Good Samaritan Hospital and Delray Community Hospital.

With ongoing support from local hospitals, PBCC's Respiratory Care program was created in 1989 in response to the shortage of properly-trained and licensed respiratory care personnel in Palm Beach County and South Florida.

For more information, please call Patrick Flaherty at the North Campus, 622-2440, extension 500 or 503.

STATE BASKETBALL CHAMPS!

The Palm Beach Community College Women's Basketball Team captured the Florida State Junior College Basketball Championship with a 68-58 overtime win against Manatee CC.

The Palm Beach Community College Women's Basketball Team clinched the State Junior College championship on March 7 by defeating Manatee Community College in overtime, 68-58.

The team rallied in the last two minutes of regulation play to tie the score at 56 all, when Sabrina Holmes nailed a field goal with 11 seconds remaining in the game. Forcing the championship into overtime, PBCC then went on to outpace Manatee, 12-2.

Coached by Sally Smith, the team trailed Manatee most of the game, but hit a hot streak with 2:48 minutes left remaining on the clock.

PBCC simply overpowered Manatee during overtime play. The College's All American Yolanda Griffith scored five points and blocked a shot that led to the Pacers' victory. Griffith finished the game with 20 points and 20 rebounds while Holmes added 18 points to the board.

On track to the Championship game, PBCC defeated both number one ranked Pensacola Junior College and number two ranked Central Florida Community College enroute to their State title showdown with Manatee CC.

Coach Smith was pleased and confident in her team's play throughout the contest. "When we were down 13 points near the end of the game, I knew it wasn't over. I told the girls we came too far to lose. The girls told me they wouldn't lose it."

Smith, formerly with Tennessee State, joined PBCC in 1987 to become the College's first women's basketball coach.

PBCC finished this season with an overall record of 23-7.

The championship earned the team a berth in the National Tournament to be played in Tyler, Texas, March 18-24.

BIG BANDS SALUTE PBCC

Palm Beach Community College and Sy Pryweller, PBCC Central Assistant Professor of Music, were honored on March 19 at the Duncan Theatre by the Big Band Hall of Fame.

According to Sally Bennett, Founder and President of the Big Band Hall of Fame, the College and Pryweller were recognized for their outstanding contributions in the field of big band music.

The Big Band Hall of Fame, originally started in Cleveland, Ohio, is celebrating its 25th year. The national organization moved to Palm Beach County seven years ago. It was originally created to honor big band musicians, composers and vocalists and to keep this musical genre alive through radio, television and instruction in schools and colleges.

Bennett said, "Palm Beach Community College should be commended for teaching big band music and its annual presentation of big band concerts. PBCC is truly carrying out our mission."

A notable honor*...Sally Bennett, representing the Big Band Hall of Fame, presented an award to PBCC and Assistant Professor of Music Sy Pryweller on March 19 at the Duncan Theatre.

TRUSTEES MEET

The March Board of Trustees meeting opened with a formal computerized presentation of the results of the 1989 Business and Industry Assessment.

As part of PBCC's Strategic Planning process, the Institutional Research Office conducted an intensive survey of over 600 Palm Beach County businesses.

The results of that survey were presented using an animated computer program interfaced with an overhead projection screen. James O. Howell, Director of Institutional Research, discussed the findings and explained the survey process.

Following the survey presentation, Board Vice Chair Homer Hand reported on the Florida Community College System Strategic Planning meeting he attended.

Hand said that the discussion at the meeting centered around the absence of adequate funding for the Community College System. In addition, he said the State Board of Community Colleges is attempting to get Community Colleges funded on a year-to-year basis rather than on a three-year average.

Under New Business, the Board discussed the policy regarding serving of alcoholic beverages on campus. Until more information regarding Special Events Insurance Coverage becomes available, the Board requested all events which entail alcoholic beverages be put on hold.

The Board also approved the revised Mission Statement, History, and Philosophy which will appear in future major publications.

PBCC President Edward M. Eissey reported that he had met with School Board Superintendent Thomas Mills and Florida Atlantic University President Anthony Catanese regarding how PBCC, FAU and the Palm Beach County School system can interface with the Magnet School for the Arts.

In addition, a news story by Angela Bradbury from the Thursday, March 8, 1990, Palm Beach Post was brought to the Board's attention. The news story pointed out that lottery funds are not being used to improve education as state lawmakers had intended, according to a recent Florida Chamber of Commerce study.

A CELEBRATION OF WOMEN

In recognition of National Women's History Month, members of the PBCC Feminist Psychology classes sponsored the appearance of Florence Howe at the Central Campus on March 20.

Students from several classes and a number of guests attended the event, titled "A 1990 Celebration of Women's Lives!" Volunteers from the Feminist Psychology classes presented facts regarding the unbalanced treatment of women in literature, history, culture, science, and politics.

Florence Howe, a noted Feminist, Professor of English at New York's City College, Founder and Publisher of The Feminist Press, and a leader in the National Women's Studies Association, was the featured speaker. She is considered to be the "Grande-Mother of the Women's Movement."

Howe's presentation focused on the development of the Women's Movement over the past 20 years, current trends and her aspirations for the future of the women's movement. She defined feminists as "those who care enough about women to be concerned with equality in status for all people."

According to Howe, there are several areas which are of critical importance to future generations. They include better child care; elimination of workplace discrimination for women and minorities; and a revision of the curriculum within the elementary/secondary and collegiate systems to equally reflect the accomplishments of women and minorities.

Social Science Professor Barbara Matthews (L) and noted feminist leader Florence Howe participated in events at PBCC Central in honor of National Women's History Month.

SEVENTH IN NATION

The Palm Beach Community College Women's Basketball team placed seventh in the nation in the National Junior College Athletic Association Women's Basketball Tournament played at Tyler Community College in Tyler, Texas on March 21-24.

The Lady Pacers topped Northwest Mississippi in their final tournament appearance.

Of the 400 teams that competed in intercollegiate play nationwide, PBCC was one of 24 squads that qualified for the national tournament. PBCC President Edward M. Eissey said the team members are "excellent representatives of our College."

Yolanda Griffith was named to the National All Tournament Team and voted All American status. Griffith's selection as an All American is the first such recognition bestowed upon a PBCC athlete, male or female.

WRITES OF SPRING CELEBRATED

PBCC North Communications Instructor Ed Riley and a PBCC student put the finishing touches on a new campus sculpture.

PBCC North Campus held a Writes of Spring outdoor festival on March 21. The events, dubbed "A Celebration of Ecological Consciousness at the Spring Equinox," included a variety of conservation and arts-related activities.

Booths featuring several environmental themes were displayed. Students were invited to consider environmental career opportunities, write a letter to their State legislators, and recycle their garbage.

Easels and paints were available for anyone who desired to express their artistic impulses. There were limited editions of Writes of Spring color posters on sale to commemorate the event. The lithograph posters, titled "Harvest of Love," were designed by Alessandra Gieffers, PBCC North Art Instructor.

North Campus students and faculty members prepared 52 colorful banners which were displayed throughout the covered walkways to herald the arrival of spring.

Students also participated in the construction and painting of a large permanent sculpture, titled "The Answers Will Come." It was to be presented as a permanent symbol of ecological awareness.

Additionally, a series of free performances were presented. Writes of Spring participants were treated to reggae, folk music, a fashion show, a steel drum band, a poetry performance artist, and a respected conservationalist author who discussed her concerns and life work.

All natural refreshments were served, and the public was invited to browse through student art, poetry and photography exhibits in the Burt Reynolds Student Center. An ongoing nature trail tour and a slide/film presentation rounded out the day of ecological awareness.

Ed Riley, PBCC North Communications Instructor, coordinated the event and was dubbed "the Father of the Writes of Spring." Riley said he thought the turnout was great, and he anticipates the Writes of Spring will become an annual event.

LOTTERY IMPACT MISLEADING

According to William Odom, Executive Director of the Center for Policy Analysis, State Division of Community Colleges, it is clear that community colleges have received a declining portion of lottery monies.

In 1987-88, community colleges received only 14 percent of the lottery funds allocated for education. In 1988-89, this decreased to 12 percent. The decrease continued in 1989-90 with community colleges receiving only eight percent.

The March 7, 1990 Florida Lottery Report Update, prepared by the Florida Chamber of Commerce, stated that state lottery dollars are being used to supplant revenue sources previously used to fund education because state general revenues are not growing fast enough to support education.

The Chamber report, which studied the effect of the lottery on appropriation trends, pointed out that the Florida Public Education Lottery Act provided that the net proceeds of lottery games conducted pursuant to this act be used to support improvements in public education. Such proceeds were not to be used as a substitute for existing resources for public education.

The report's findings indicate that without lottery funds, state and local education funding would have decreased 3.13 percent in 1989.

The report concluded to correct the under funding of education, revenues going to education will have to increase by $1 billion in 1990. Additional funding increases will also be necessary every couple of years as long as the growth in student enrollment remains at a high level and general tax revenues decrease.

HISPANIC LEADERS MEET AT CENTRAL CAMPUS

Improved communication with the Hispanic community was the focus of this year's second Hispanic luncheon, sponsored by the PBCC Foundation.

PBCC President Edward M. Eissey welcomed the group and introduced the guests and administrators in attendance. He said that the College has several faculty positions currently available for which qualified Hispanics and other minorities are encouraged to apply.

Eissey also said the advisory committee on each campus provided an opportunity for Hispanics to participate in PBCC's planning process.

Following the welcome, Hispanic community leaders offered suggestions for recruiting Hispanic students and ideas for better serving the educational needs of Hispanic businesses.

Lou Martinez, Executive Director of Hispanic Human Resources, reviewed the ideas which were discussed during the October Hispanic Luncheon.

Hispanic leaders indicated several priority areas including the College's need to be aware of the educational requirements of the Hispanic Community and to establish a dialogue with leaders to mesh ideas into PBCC programs.

The group said that PBCC should identify the training needs of minority businesses in the fields of International Marketing and Trade.

They also said that the College should make the community aware of the programs, courses, financial aid sources, etc. that are available.

Seminars and career days were suggested as ways to reach potential students, parents and community groups.

Other ideas included identifying ways that Hispanic leaders can assist the College. They said that through political connections, it might be possible to secure grants from sources previously untapped.

Patricia Myers, Executive Director of the Foundation, discussed the Jose Marti Scholarship Challenge Grant Fund. She said that this grant requires local funds as a match for state dollars. It is awarded by the Florida Department of Education to students of Spanish culture.

The scholarship is based on financial need and is available to Hispanic students graduating from high school or those who have completed a baccalaureate degree and are applying for graduate school.

Myers also presented information on several other minority scholarships. She said that scholarships to benefit Hispanic students can be established in the name of the donor.

Other Hispanic leaders in attendance at the luncheon were Rafael Roca, Jorge LaBarga. Antonio S. Grau, Fernando Soto, Alberto Palumbo, and Jose Bello.

PBCC Trustee Homer J. Hand was also present at the event.

The luncheon was prepared by PBCC's Chef Apprenticeship students and served by Hospitality Management students.

The Finnish Library officially opened on Friday, March 30 with a luncheon sponsored by Great Southern Bank.

Jaakko Laajava, Minister-Counselor for the Embassy of Finland in Washington, D.C. attended the activities along with local Finnish leaders and representatives of the Finnish community.

CHILD CARE UPDATE

The April Board of Trustees Meeting featured an update of PBCC Child Care programs by Central Campus Division IV Chair Celeste Beck.

Beck said that PBCC's early childhood programs were expanded this year to include credentialing for care of the school-age child. The pilot program is being offered for Palm Beach County School Board employees who provide after-school care for the school-age child.

The PBCC training materials for the school-age child care program are being copyrighted and may serve as the model for similar training programs throughout the State of Florida.

Beck also said PBCC students have requested that full-day child care as well as child care upon demand be offered at all campuses.

In addition, PBCC has been chosen by McDonald's as one of only five pilot sites in the nation to train credentialed child-care providers for their employees' children. The national food chain believes that providing quality child care during early morning and late evening hours will assist in retaining good employees.

The EMC was established in March of 1989 as a mechanism to involve community leaders in the process of promoting Palm Beach Community College and making marketing recommendations. The participants, most of whom are alumni of PBCC, were selected from media, advertising, film, public relations, public service, and corporate relations businesses and organizations.

To date, the EMC has tackled a number of public relations and marketing issues. The College's new mascot, the Florida Panther, was selected as a result of the research and recommendations of the EMC. In addition, they are completing a recommendation for a new PBCC logo.

A subcommittee of the EMC is working with PBCC staff and faculty to produce a recruiting video. Completion of this project is targeted for November.

The IMC, the internal counterpart to the EMC, is composed of representatives of the President and each of the four Vice Presidents. It has focused on recommendations to establish district policies and procedures for public relations and marketing at PBCC.

The committee also prioritizes district promotional efforts and attempts to more effectively utilize the limited College resources to market the many PBCC program offerings.

As a result of the efforts of the IMC, new advertising and printing procedures had been implemented, and a district advertising budget has been established. District recruiting promotional activities which target minority students as well high school graduates in general have also been approved.

NORTH ARE YOU THERE?

Perhaps you have been frustrated over the past several months trying to call North Campus and having the telephone ring and ring with no answer. Well, here's the scoop.

The North Campus has 12 trunk lines to take care of incoming and outgoing calls. If six people are calling out and six people are calling in, what happens when you try to call? The phone system searches for a line accessing the various trunk lines. While this is happening, the phone is ringing in your ear, but not ringing at the switchboard.

Eventually, someone hangs up, and the line rings on the switchboard and is answered. Perhaps you run out of patience, exclaiming "What's happening on North Campus? They're not answering their phone." In fact, our operator has been sitting by the switchboard unaware of your problem.

We hope that someday we will receive a new or expanded phone system so that we can communicate with the outside world. But, in the meantime, there will be more and more times that you will get no answer at North Campus.

Please be assured that we want to hear from you.

...Patti Anderson

QUALITY IMPROVEMENT AT PBCC HERE TO STAY!

Palm Beach Community College will be implementing a pilot quality improvement program. This decision was the outcome of the April Planning Session involving key PBCC administrators.

In the past year, three PBCC administrative teams have been trained in the quality process. Each team worked on a project which utilized the principles of quality improvement in an actual work setting.

The PBCC training projects selected centered on improving the Request for Leave Form, telephone referrals to the registrar's offices, and extraneous intracampus meetings.

The 16-week training period gave participants a short time frame to apply quality principles to the projects. These projects will be ongoing to allow adequate time for completion.

Quality improvement is based on the principles of W. Edwards Deming who was instrumental in the post World War II reconstruction of Japan's economy. The method he introduced is in part responsible for changing the reputation of Japan's products to the enviable position of the highest quality available in the world.

Deming focuses on the importance of meeting the needs of one's customers. Emphasis is also placed on using statistical process as the basis for decision making.

He established the following 14 key principles for achieving quality:

1. Create constancy of purpose for improvement of product and service.
2. Adopt the new philosophy.
3. Cease dependence on mass inspection.
4. End the practice of awarding business on price tag alone.
5. Improve constantly and forever the system of production and service.
6. Institute training.
7. Institute leadership.
8. Drive out fear.
9. Break down barriers between staff areas.
10. Eliminate slogans, exhortations, and targets for the workforce.
11. Eliminate numerical quotas.
12. Remove barriers to pride of workmanship.
13. Institute a vigorous program of education and retraining.
14. Take action to accomplish the transformation.

Deming stresses that each company must work out its own quality management adaptation, suitable for the culture of the organization. He also said that while the change to quality improvement is never easy, its benefits are enormous.

An implementation team has been appointed to develop an adaptation of quality improvement that is appropriate for PBCC. Updates on progress in quality improvement will appear in the Monday Report.

BOARD APPROVES BUDGET

During the May PBCC Board of Trustees Meeting at North Campus, the Annual Operating Budget for 1990-91 was approved. The budget estimates revenues that will be received from the State. Following the legislative session, the budget will be amended if revenue allocations change.

It appears that appropriations from the State may be lean this budget year. The Governor has recommended a salary increase of only one and a half percent for community college employees. In the legislature, the House and Senate have recommended three percent increases in salary.

The State Board of Community Colleges is fighting for at least a five percent salary increase to be the final compromise approved by the Legislature.

State Public Education Capital Outlay (PECO) funds for the Student Activities Building at PBCC's South Campus as well as the $8.7 million previously approved for the North Campus Fine Arts Theatre seem to also be at risk. PBCC President Edward M. Eissey asked that everyone contact their legislators to lobby for maintaining the funds for these projects.

PBCC BRANCHES OUT

PBCC's Central Campus at the corner of Congress Avenue and Lake Worth Road has been "treed, shrubbed and irrigated" according to PBCC President Edward M. Eissey. He said that this is part of the College's xeriscape plan which utilizes native vegetation and conserves water.

The initial phase of the project is being accomplished under the direction of community leaders including Judge Harry Anstead, Art Nelson, Moseleh Rezakhani, Michael Zimmerman, and David Webb and through the donation of landscaping services from Sinclair Nursery, Coastal Wholesale, Garden Irrigation, and Aiken Irrigation.

"This is a real team effort," said Judge Harry Anstead who serves as Chairman of the Campus Beautification Committee.

PBCC alumnus Moseleh Rezakhani of Coastal Wholesale supervised the installation of the project's irrigation system on Saturday, May 5.

Art Nelson of Sinclair Nurseries provided architectural landscaping services. The company planted 64 trees and 350 shrubs on Monday, May 14. Their donation is valued at $32,000.

The initial phase will landscape 1,200 running feet. Donors are needed to landscape other areas of the campus. For information, call 8072.

PALM BEACH COMMUNITY COLLEGE

MONDAY REPORT

Volume XII, Number 13 June 11, 1990

LEGISLATIVE OVERVIEW

Palm Beach Community College appears to have made several gains in the Public Education Capital Outlay (PECO) funds approved during the 1990 Legislative Session.

The $8.7 million, approved during a prior legislative session, was not clearly defined in terms of use. The funds were at risk early in the 1990 session. The final legislative appropriations package allows PBCC to retain the entire $8.7 million.

In addition, a request for $3.6 million in PECO funds for the construction of the Student Services/Administration Building on PBCC's South Campus was reduced to $1.8 million. The legislature felt that the shortfall of $1.8 million could be taken from the $8.7 million that PBCC had retained.

The remaining $6.9 million from the $8.7 million will be used for a North Campus Educational Auditorium and an additional construction project on the state-approved priority projects list.

Palm Beach Community College also received a legislative appropriation of $433,989 in PECO funds for renovations/remodeling of PBCC's Central Campus Dental Health Labs. Another $688,078 is earmarked for repairs on Central Campus and safety-for-life improvements, districtwide.

The complete legislative appropriations package must be reviewed for its impact on the Palm Beach Community College operating budget. After this review, actual salary increases for College employees will also be determined.

The legislative appropriations package includes funding intended to cover a four percent salary increase for community college faculty. The legislature also recommended that community college faculty be given, from enhancement funds, a one percent, one-time payment that is not added to the regular base pay and is not recurring.

The salary increase recommended by the legislature for other community college employees including administrators, staff, counselors, and librarians is three percent which will begin in January of 1991. This translates to only a one-and-one-half percent increase when figured on a 12-month basis.

GRAD DAY CELEBRATION

Palm Beach Community College's South Campus hosted Grad Day '90 in honor of recent high school graduates and PBCC students on Monday, June 4. This is the second year that PBCC South has sponsored the event.

PBCC President Edward M. Eissey, Vice President of Student Affairs Melvin Haynes, Jr., PBCC Board of Trustees Chairman Bettye J. King and PBCC Board of Trustees member Admiral Thomas E. Morris and his wife, Rosamond, were present for the Grad Day festivities.

South Campus Director of Student Services Harris McGirt was enthusiastic about the turn out at the event and praised the continued growth of the South Campus.

"Great things are happening at PBCC South," McGirt said. "Our new lab building will be opening soon, and we are looking forward to the construction of the student services and administration center."

Designed to acquaint potential students with Palm Beach Community College's academic programs, clubs, and extra-curricular activities, Grad Day '90 offered attendees a chicken and ribs lunch and entertainment by a local disc jockey.

BOARD APPROVES NEW LOGO AND HONORS EISSEY

Board Chairperson Bettye J. King presents PBCC President Edward M. Eissey with a resolution naming the North Campus in his honor.

During the June 13 Board Meeting, Trustees named the PBCC North Campus in honor of PBCC President Edward M. Eissey. This was done in recognition of Eissey's 16 years of service to the College and his forty years as an educator in Palm Beach County.

The motion to name the North Campus, the Edward M. Eissey Campus, was made by Board Vice Chairman Homer Hand. He made the recommendation by saying that Eissey should be honored for the numerous years that he has devoted to education and to PBCC.

In accepting the honor, Eissey said, "Let me reserve my comments until I get over the shock, but I would like to thank the Board for this tremendous honor that you have bestowed on me."

In other business, the Board approved a five percent increase in student fees for tuition and matriculation. In addition, the College will implement the $1 per credit hour capital outlay fee. The increases will be in effect for winter term registration.

During the 1990 Legislative Session, a bill was passed which gave Community Colleges the ability increase student fees up to five percent. The legislature considered this as replacement funding to be used to assist in funding the unmet needs of community colleges.

Eissey said that the five percent increase will raise in-state tuition to $25.73 per credit hour and out-of-state tuition to 49.09 per credit hour. This will raise approximately $144,724 which will go to make up a small portion of the College's unfunded needs.

In other business, a new PBCC logo was adopted. The development of the logo was coordinated by the External Marketing Committee (EMC) as a recommendation to update the image of the College.

EMC member Chuck Elderd presented the design which focuses on the College's unique name. He said, "The new logo capitalizes on the palm tree and sun which are trademarks of our community."

The logo will be used for stationery, business cards, advertising, and promotional efforts. It is to be printed in black, green, or foil-stamped gold, and can also be embossed.

In addition, the College colors were changed to green and white from the previous green and gold combination. The External Marketing Committee felt that the color green is the color of the 90s, and it is representative of the Palm Beach County area.

The College seal, which was previously used on all stationery, will be retained for use on official documents such as diplomas and presidential correspondence.

The new PBCC logo will be used on all printed material and in promotional efforts.

HOME COMPUTER DISCOUNTS

If you are interested in purchasing a new computer for your personal use, please contact Terry Shoultes, District Coordinator for Academic Computing Programs and check out the new purchase agreement with IBM that allows college students and employees to purchase IBM PS/2 computers at a 40 percent savings.

Through a special educational contract with PBCC, all models of the Personal Computer/2 are available at substantial savings. Terry was the first PBCC customer under the new plan and ordered a PS/2 Model 30-286 on May 15. The system was delivered, set up and installed by May 28.

There is also a special PS/2 Loans for Learning plan under which computer equipment can be financed. The plan offers a variable interest rate substantially lower than most consumer loans and credit cards. The rate changes every month but will not exceed 1.5 percent above the prime rate at the time the rate is set.

Terry will be happy to assist you in configuring your system. For more information, call 8210.

PALM BEACH COMMUNITY COLLEGE

MONDAY REPORT

MONDAY REPORT REPLACED

This is the final issue of the Monday Report. The publication will be replaced by a quarterly report with the first issue targeted for October 1, 1990. In addition, a weekly administrative briefing will be published for current PBCC employees only, with the first issue to appear on Monday, July 9, 1990.

The new internal weekly newsletter, Perspectives, will offer Palm Beach Community College trustees, administrators, faculty and staff a brief, factual overview of current events and administrative/ managerial issues. The changed format will better utilize limited staff time and will reduce printing costs.

Perspectives, 8 1/2 by 11 inches in size, will be printed on white paper with a green mast and black type. The three-column format will be used on the front and back of the two-page document.

For information to appear in Perspectives, it must be submitted by an administrator or manager only. The deadline for receipt of information by the Palm Beach Community College Office of College Relations & Marketing is 3 p.m. each Tuesday.

The content of Perspectives includes: Announcements of policies and procedures from the President's Staff; brief, concise announcements of new, different, or time-dated PBCC information submitted by College administrators/managers; job announcements from Human Resources; Legal Announcements; and other selected announcements at the discretion of the President's Staff. A weekly calendar of administrative dates will appear in addition to a short listing of weekly current events.

Regular columns will include President's Notes, Administrative Notes, Position Vacancies, Legals, Administrative Calendar, and Events.

The weekly publication will no longer include birthdays, personals, or class announcements.

The purpose of the quarterly publication, an expanded version of Contact, is to provide in-depth information on newsworthy Palm Beach Community College-related topics to the college community as well as to a wide range of external groups in Palm Beach County.

The new Contact, 8 1/2 by 11 inches in size, will be four-to-eight pages in length. It will be printed on glossy white paper with the use of the color green in addition to black type.

For information to be printed in the new quarterly, it must be typed on the special request form (available from CRM) and received by CRM five weeks prior to the publication date. (The deadline for the October 1 quarterly is August 27.)

The Director of the College Relations and Marketing Office reserves the right to edit or omit any information submitted for publication.

The quarterly will feature one PBCC campus in each issue. The first issue will focus on the Edward M. Eissey Campus and Glades, South and Central will follow in that order. Each campus feature will include an overview of achievements from the campus provost, a focus on one-to-two new or different academic programs on that campus, and a profile of an outstanding employee.

In addition, messages from the President's Staff and time-dated District news or feature stories will appear in the quarterly. A calendar of sports and cultural events will appear. College-related employee achievements will be recognized in this publication. Alumni information may also appear in the quarterly.

The new Contact will not include birthdays, personals, or individual class announcements.

It will be distributed to potential students, parents, county residents, community leaders, alumni, potential donors, media representatives, political figures, etc. Savings from the one-page weekly newsletter will be utilized to print the quarterly Contact.

To receive the new Contact, individuals on the previous Monday Report mailing list must respond to an address correction card which will be mailed to those persons in early July.

The recommendations for the weekly Perspectives and the new Contact were cooperatively developed by the PBCC Internal Marketing Committee, reviewed by the External Marketing Committee, and approved by the President's Staff.
